Weber-Isis Water Activator Add-on

Swirling Technology

The Weber Isis Water Activator Installation is a multi-layered bio-energy accumulator with original Schauberger swirling technology that decidedly improves the energy deficient tap water in order to return it to its original condition. Flowing in nature is straight or in pipes, because it takes advantage of implosion in contrast to centrifugal explosion to clean the water. The implosive force works inwardly, that is, centripetally. The force is concentrated in the center. Natural water paths form twisting, winding motions (whirlpools). Through this swirling, the water receives oxygen and can clean itself to a certain point. And what is more, the Romans included twists in their water pipes in order to swirl it.

Improvement of Water Quality

A new dimension in energetic water preparation with original Schauberger swirling technology (copy of a kudu horn). With original Weber Isis Water Activator 1:1 (multi layered bio-energy accumulator) radiating in flow direction of the water. With original Weber Isis Turbocharger radiating against the flow direction of the water.
